Let's get personal

A Personal Point Of View

Through the years, we, the students of Richmond High School, have been a significant part of the "younger generation." As we have grown into young men and women we have also grown into individuals; each with personal goals and pride in accomplishments.

This personal growth, the making of a personality, begins at birth and continues to flourish throughout our entire lives. How we, as teenagers, live our lives has a great effect on our future. Each individual has a personality of his own.

Whether it be a football player, a cheerleader, a class clown or a genius, we all have a personal life aside from the categorical one we live in as teenagers at RHS.

Every individual learns in time to strive to make each day better than the one before. And even though we may fail to live up to the expectations of our parents, our community, or even ourselves, we will go on to overcome our weaknesses. We will continue to strengthen our abilities and insights.

While we are still in high school, many of the same things will happen to each of us. But individualism forces us to handle similar situations in different ways; whether it be failing a class, striving for the excellent grade or dealing with the first emotions of love for the opposite sex.

Our personalities, opinions and goals during high school will stay forever in our memories. Some of these memories will make us laugh while other's will make us cry.

In our adulthood, we will perfect imperfections, correct errors and set new goals to suit better the responsibilities of tomorrow. Our high school years at RHS will reflect upon the rest of our lives and will help us live them to their fullest potential.

"Did someone say Hawaii?" asks devilettes Sherri Thomas, Traci Sherrow, Kristine Hodgkin and Sharon Rosar.

Paul Wright and Tim Davis rock the night away at Homecoming Dance '86.

"Go back, go back, go back to the woods . . ." shouts Kathy Griffin, Greg Goss (center) and Mike Miller at a basketball game.

Tension on the bench runs deep as Coach Griffin hopes for a State victory over Marion at Market Square Arena.

The 1986 Homecoming Parade theme was "Catch the Wave Devils." The Student Congress sold Max Headroom T-shirts and Homecoming sweatshirts featuring Coke to promote Homecoming spirit. Each class participated by creating outrageously colorful floats. Every float followed the theme by supporting the devil team and putting down the Logansport Berries. The first place prize went to the crazy senior class, whose great slogan was, "Devils, Wipe Out the Berries."

The Varsity football team traditionally rode on the bright red fire engine shouting, "We're number one" through the streets of Richmond. The parade wound up at Lybolt Field for a rowdy pep assembly and the annual girls Powder Puff game. Now for some commentary on the evening games. The sophomore Powder Puff team defeated the freshman and the senior Powder Puff defeated the juniors.

For a new addition to the pep assembly there was the "Smooch a Sow" contest sponsored by Student Congress. Mr. Hardman was the lucky teacher penny voted by the students to kiss a pig.

Homecoming '86 Rocks

Sounds of rock-n-roll rumbled through the halls of RHS at the 1986 Homecoming dance. Couples danced the night away to the popular songs of by-gone years.

With the revival of old groups such as the Monkees, the Beach Boys and the Beatles came the 1986 Homecoming theme of "Twist and Shout." Richmond students took to the crazed wave of 50's and 60's music early in the year and soon caught on to all of the old time dances as well.

The evening was not only filled with up-beat songs, but slow tunes seemed to fill the air with romance.

Stopping to take a breather and enjoy some refreshments, many students stood back to look at the success of the 1986 Homecoming activities. The Homecoming dance culminated the weeks of intense planning.

Tami Hampton and Rick Treadway, along with many others, enjoy more than just dancing and the music.

John Senese and Michelle Paraiso enjoy themselves while dancing to the music.

Richmond students get weird, while dancing to the latest tunes.

Scott Clark gets down and rocks at Homecoming '86.

Students jam with the "Doctor of Dance," Mr. Holok.

Chris Lyons watches Kristin Perks go into some serious moves.

Eric Dunning and members of his harem, Stacey Lenard and Nikki Devito, get down and jam.

Overnight

Did you miss the party? Did you miss the fun? Where were you on the night of November 22, 1986? If you weren't at the Y-teen overnight, you were not having as much fun as the 150 RHS students that were!

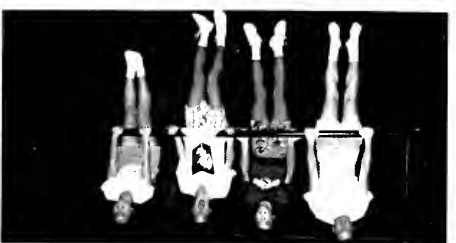

There was wally-ball, racquetball, basketball, dancing, movies, pizza and popcorn for everyone. For those mischievous ones, there was sneaking into the hot tubs, and for the lazy ones, there was sleeping on the gymnastics mats.

Of course there was plenty of picture taking. Mitchell Kraemer did not seem to mind though. He jumped in front of the camera every time he saw the flash. If you weren't there, you sure missed a great party!

Beginning this year, the YMCA offered their facilities to RHS students after home basketball games. Their main goal was to give students a place to go besides unchaperoned parties. Admission was only $1.00 for two hours of fun entertainment.

Spirit

The Band and the Devilettes sitting high in the Tiernan Center help to enhance the spirit at basketball games. The Band entertains the cheering crowd by playing their up-to-date peppy songs before and after the games and during half-time. The Devilettes in their flashy costumes perform their catchy routines.

RHS basketball games would not be the same without the happy faces and outstanding performances from the Band and Devilettes.

Devilettes Kathy Love, Angel Nicholson, Lisa Grimme and Nancy Graf grin and bear it.

"Did someone say cheese?" ask Devilettes before a half-time show.

Adrienne Carpenter, Kassondra Wright, Jonelie Armstead, Dori Armstead, Larry Twine and Cassandra Bennett ham it up for the camera.

Gary Nunley pleads "not guilty" when he is caught in the act.

"Am I doing this right, Mr. Varnell?" asks West Fahlsing while he hopes he is in tune.

Band isn't that bad, is it? Lawrence Rohe and Brent Ray ponder the question.

Spirit

Cheerleaders work very hard to get the crowd enthusiastic and supportive about their Devils. As tension rises during the games, fans become very excited and rowdy. Many die-hard fans never miss a game, these people often motivate the fans as much as the cheerleaders.

When you are up in the stands watching your basketball team in your mighty Tiernan Center you suddenly have an overwhelming sense of pride about living in Richmond and being a Red Devil.

School loyalty and support is what spirit is all about. Going to a Richmond basketball game is the definition of spirit.

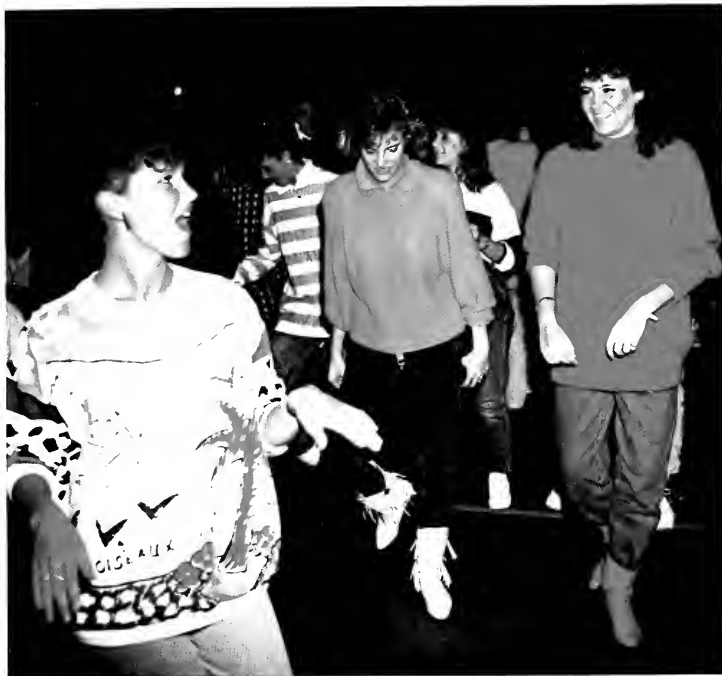

"Come on you guys," says Jodi Griffith as she tries to get the crowd to stand up and cheer.

Varsity cheerleaders lead the crowd in a floor cheer.

"This one is for you, Devils," says Woody Austin as he prepares for a foul shot.

Sock Hop

The rafters of Civic Hall rocked once again the night Phil Dirt and the Dozers came to town. The music of Beach Boys, Platters, and Jan and Dean was once again brought to life.

Local businessmen helped organize the dance to raise money to rejuvenate Civic Hall. Children 6 to 60 crowded the gym floor for an old-fashioned Sock Hop. After the basketball game all Devils' fans gathered across the way for an evening of old time rock and roll.

The evening progressed with adults and students mingling together to do such dances as the Stroll, the Twist, the Jitterbug and the "good ol' slow dance."

Laurie Lingle, Beth Focht, and Kelly Skinner should be twistin the night away instead of "Walkin like an Egyptian."

"Rock and Roll Lives" RHS students relive old time rock and roll.

"An American Masterpiece," Mr. Alexander dances his way out of RHS.

Stephanie Shute and friends sign Phil Dirt's Book of Love.

Mini Mag

Vol. 1 1986-87

RHS was the place to be rowdy and outrageous. All of the victories our sport teams tucked under their belts provided the perfect opportunity for students to unleash their creativity. Clubs such as FCA and Key Club had hot new items with their vocal t-shirts and sweatshirts. During pep assemblies, students were transformed into modern day Greek citizens by wearing togas and sunglasses. With all of this crazy activity, the faculty and administrators couldn't resist the temptation to become involved. Their famous skits were definitely a big hit! Different activities may come and go, but RHS fans will always be number one in the nation with their spirit.

Locker Blues

by Tami Hampton

As I stand here
For my ump-teenth year,
I reflect back on
The things I used to fear . . .
Excessive stuffing,
Extra books,
Old newspapers,
Freshmen crooks.
Chemistry projects,
Ugly coats,
Biology extra credit-
The heart of a goat?
Being a locker
Is no easy task.
How I've managed to stand up . .
Lord only knows!
Through the years
I've learned to cope,
With teenage drug smuggling
And hiding dope.
Semester after semester,
Year after year,
I tend to look back
On the things I fear.
Things I put up with,
For I have no choice . . .
I'm just a locker,
I have no voice.

Where were you on a Friday evening when the movie Hoosiers came to the local cinema? Chances are that you joined every other Indiana citizen by buying a movie ticket to the heart warming picture of Hoosiers. Many high school students filled the theaters to see if they could find themselves or a close friend in the crowd scenes at the basketball game in the movie. When a student found a familiar face it seemed like only yesterday that they were helping as extras on the movie set. Approximately 100 students from RHS participated in the project when it was being filmed in Knightstown, Indiana. Students were transformed back into time with crew cuts, bobbie socks, long shirts, penny loafers and blue jeans. RHS students looked so original that the film makers asked them to return for a second day!

This box office hit was not only a hit around the country, but was especially popular in the hearts of the basketball loving Hoosiers.

Richmond is a 1986-87 All-America City.
It has long been believed by the team that represent Richmond at All-America City finals last year. The team was confirmed at a press conference at the All-America City Building.

The league conferred All-America City on Richmond and seven other cities who were among 16 finalists chosen from a field of 76 entries.
The program, in its 36th year, recognizes and encourages citizen involvement in community problem solving.
"The award symbolizes effective citizen participation in significant civic accomplishments brought about through a blending of public and private resources," the league said in its award letter to Richmond. The award draws national media attention to the cities as well as their citizens.

Tuesday's tax referendum was a sweet victory for Richmond Community Schools.
The measure won by a margin of 1,369 votes — 4,793 to 3,424.
"There hasn't been a referendum that has won by 1,369 votes," Superintendent Richard Morrison told a gathering of staff and volunteers at the high school career center when the final tally arrived Tuesday night.
The totals represented 38 percent of the 21,635 registered voters. The schools had expected about 6,700 voters, Morrison said.

Foreign Exchange

The high school was a popular spot this past school year for travelers from abroad. Students from Japan, West Germany, the Netherlands and Holland spent the year as foreign exchange students. Each of these students spent a year or more in the Richmond school system for the experience of living in the United States and to further their education.

Noriko Kamoskito whose homeland is Japan, came to the U.S. to learn new ideas and receive a better understanding of foreign relations.

Noriko's dream is to return to her country and help foreign students settle in Japan. She would like to possibly open a tourist agency.

Sven Kottke came to the U.S. seeking the "freedom of America." He found that and many other things. His favorite city was New York because of its size and its sense of business. Another large place he enjoyed was the Tiernan Center. He was intrigued by all of the sports offered in one building. Life has been very different for Sven while he was away from home but he leaves the city of Richmond thanking the community for its hospitality.

Lotte Hold and Kurt Vandendungen came to RHS and immediately became involved in extra-curricular activities. Lotte got a taste of drama by acting in several plays. She saw action on the soccer field by playing for the Richmond Soccer Club. Lotte could also be seen doing a mean jitter bug at many RHS dances.

Kurt became an honorary member of the state runner-up basketball team. Kurt practiced and worked out with the team, but because of his foreign citizenship and his age he was not eligible to play in regular season games with the team.

All four of these students learned many things at RHS, but RHS students in return learned a variety of things about the diversity of cultures.

Just Another Sunday Morning

Brad woke with a jerk. His room was very bright. He knew it was late. He felt a pain in his stomach; it was a sore, constant pain. He lifted the covers and surprisingly found it to be his union jack belt buckle. He'd forgotten to take off his clothes before bed. Brad squirmed a little under the covers and took off his shirt. It smelled like smoke and was muddy at the elbow.

"I hope mom hasn't come in yet," Brad thought.

He sniffed the air and decided that his mom wouldn't be able to smell the smoke, but for added security he stuffed his wadded shirt far under the bed.

Slowly, Brad's memory came back. He thought to himself about Rod and Dennis, about the loud music, all the cigarettes, the beer, and of course, about Sandy. He'd never had the courage to ask her out before, and there he was last night, holding her hand.

"She's so cool," he thought, smiling to himself. "I can't wait to see her at school."

Brad was so pleased with himself that he almost laughed out loud. His head was filled with images of Sandy as he remembered the feeling he got from the beer. Everything seemed so great. Then the clank of the breakfast dishes brought him back to reality.

"She's washing the breakfast dishes," he thought to himself. "She's wondering why I'm not up yet. How could I have done this to her? I told her I'd never do it. If she knew I drank last night she'd kill me. I'll go to church with her, that'll make it up."

Brad shoved back the covers and got out of bed. Suddenly he felt terrible. His head throbbed, his stomach churned. Brad sank back into bed.

"I'll never do it again. How could I have been so stupid? I'm gonna be straight with her, honest."

Just then his mom stuck her head in the door. Brad's stomach quivered. His heart stopped.

"Where'd you go last night?" she asked.

He was slow in answering. "To the mall," he said.

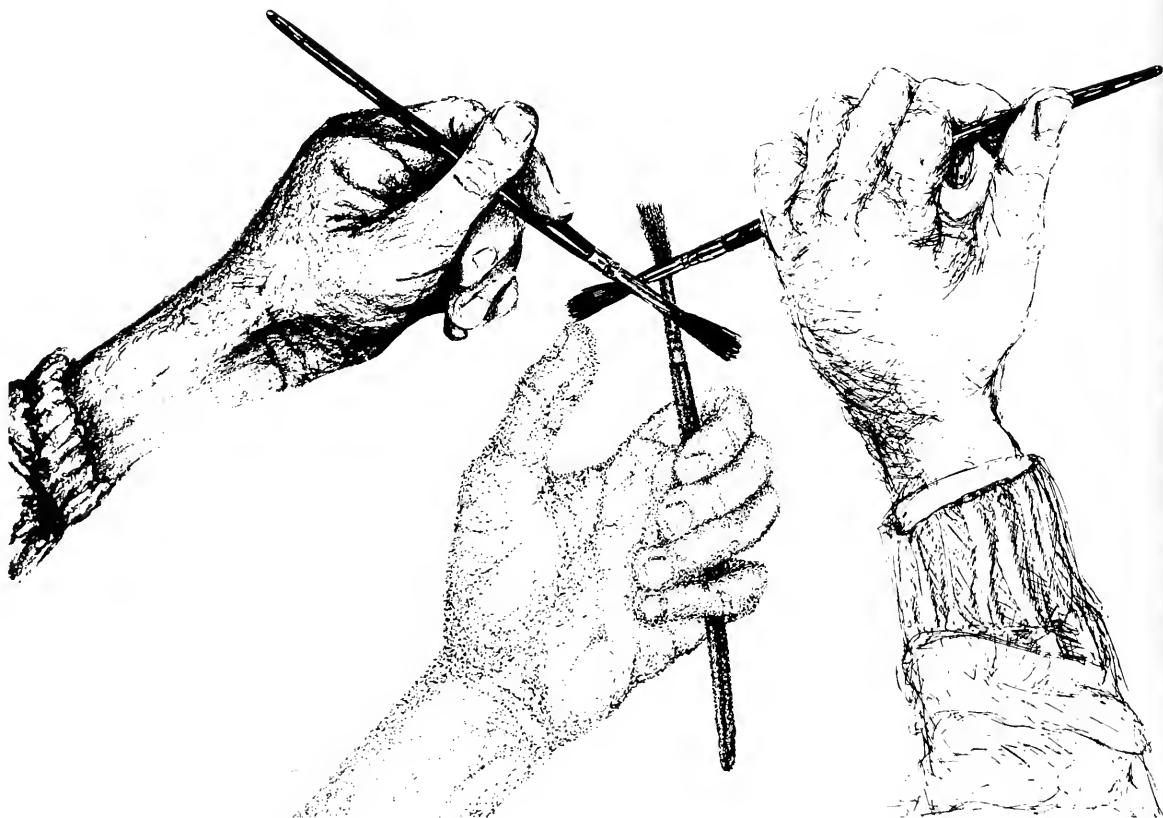

"Doesn't the mall close at nine?" she asked.

His mind worked quickly, like a machine. "We watched the late movie at Tom's," he replied.

She told him that there was some coffee cake on the kitchen table, and said she was going to be late getting home from church because of the Easter pitch in. She tucked him in and then walked out. Brad was so relieved. He started thinking about Sandy again.

"Next weekend'll be great!" he said, placing his hands behind his head, propping his feet up on the end of the end of his bed.

Writing freely, my pen glides across the page.
Expressing my thoughts in different ways
I want to write and tell you what I think.
But the words will not express the missing link.
My words kept flowing, but do not say much.
I need to speak to someone and tell them such.
Be my listener and please will you hear.
I need to tell someone, tell someone how much I care.

Sitting in the school cafeteria today
I saw a boy just sitting there, watching his friends eat lunch
He looked dirty.
Probably spent his money on cigarettes or something.
I thought,
I didn't think much of this boy or his feeling or anything

But then a woman teacher walked over to that boy and she had her lunch tray in her hands.
She put down
the tray
and gave the boy her milk and her fruit
and her dessert.

He thanked her with his eyes and his smile.

This struck me as very odd-she didn't have to do that.
I hadn't even thought of . . .

Of course I hadn't.
Guess it didn't matter to her that
he looked dirty.
He was still a person.
A hungry person, at that.

and she didn't have to do that.
I'm embarrassed for myself.

Message to Seniors

Music is everywhere in our lives whether it's at a concert, in a movie, on the radio, or in the shower.
Music is a life force that brings out our emotions and colors our world. We smile and laugh while dancing to good old rock and roll, and cry that much more when we hear "taps" at a funeral.
Music affects us physically as well as emotionally. We relax while listening to a Brahms Lullabye, and we feel like exploding during a Tchaikovsky symphony. Music can simply take control of one foot and cause it to tap to the beat of a song on the radio, or it can take control of the entire body and cause it to turn up the stereo full blast and run around the living room in underwear and sunglasses while brutally playing an air guitar.

But why is it that music can be so powerful and influential? It is because music is an international language which we all speak and understand.

Therefore, let us say for a moment that your life is a song, an unfinished song. So far you have a melody, which is your personality; a tempo, which is the pace at which you live your life day by day; and a recurring rhythm, which is the impression you leave on other people time after time.
With these three parts, all you have left to do is to write the lyrics. The past twelve years of your life you have built a theme for your song. This theme is your ultimate dream, which by now you have begun to achieve and which you will strive to achieve in years to come. Whether your dream is wealth, happiness, success, fame, gratification, or any combination thereof, each word of your song may determine the reality of that dream. So choose your words carefully, keeping your theme in mind, and do so with careful planning, drive, and determination. It may take a lifetime, but only you have the ability to write your own song, thus, determining your own future.

Once you have completed your own song, and you have realized your ultimate dream, perform your song with all your heart and soul, for your song will contain a message that every human being will be able to understand. Deliver your message with the hopes of inspiring some other young songwriter to follow his dreams. Your life is a song that you must write. You already have the music to your song. Now add a message and some meaning, and you will hear your future.

Student Life

Student life, the only thing that is related to school, that doesn't drive teenagers to the brink. Ask any student at RHS and they will tell you. The only way to escape everyday tension is to sink yourself into ... student life!

Extra-curricular activities vary as much as people do, because much of a person's life revolves around school activities. Personality determines which activities the students plan to participate in.

The 1986-87 school year's student life was full of excitement and spirit due to excellent sports competitions, traditional dances, class tours, overnights, clubs, parties ... you name it, it was in there!

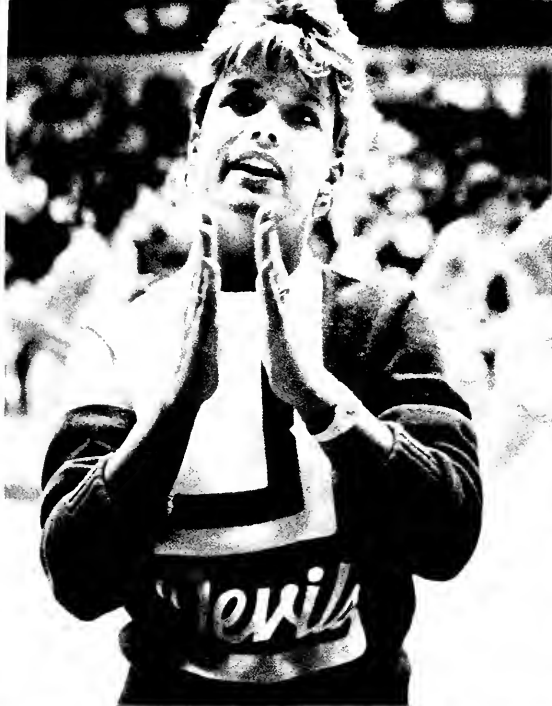

Spirit is alive at RHS! Tony Parker, Brian Jones, D.J. Austin and Darrin Stevens show their spirit, while wearing matching Red Devil apparel.

Hats and cheap sunglasses enhanced the mood during spirit week.

Snowball

The Snowball dance appropriately fell on Saint Valentine's birthday this year. Throughout the evening he shot his rock and roll arrows through the hearts of RHS students. His arrows, mistaken by some as silver streamers, blew into their faces as "The Big Chill" moved in.

Senior Chris Desmone, who originated the theme "The Big Chill," along with his few cupid helpers, transformed Civic Hall into a winter wonderland. Outside, where there really was a big chill, students were greeted by luminaries along the sidewalk.

Thunder and Lightning provided great music which shook the white trees that lit up the dance floor. Students jammed in semi-formal attire until the clock struck 11:30.

The climax of the evening was the crowning of the king and queen. Rob Bailey and Angie Nolte were chosen by the student body to reign over the dance. The two shared the excitement of the evening in a slow dance together.

To add to Snowball '87, Hi-Y gave each student a ticket key chain to keep the memories alive from "The Big Chill."

King Rob Bailey and Queen Angie Nolte reign over the Snowball Dance.

Seniors Amy Oler, David Brantner, Kelly Skinner, Dana Weigle, Angie Nolte, Kristen Schrieffer and Karen Buchheit live it up at Snowball.

Midnight Masquerade

Saturday May 9, 1987 was definitely a night meant to be remembered for many RHS students as a "Midnight Masquerade" took place in Civic Hall. Nearly 300 couples attended the junior-senior prom.

Music by "On the Rox" had students dancing all night long. The upcoming local band provided slow songs and rock-n-roll from 8:30 until midnight.

Trey Powers and Krista Adams were chosen by student vote to reign over the evening as king and queen.

The junior class counsel members looked proudly at "Midnight Masquerade" seeing that the night they had created would stay in the memories of all who attended.

Drama

The RHS Drama department presented four productions during the 1986-87 season. Musicals being such a huge success in the past, this year saw the staging of an additional musical.

The musical Guys & Dolls opened the season and brought life back to the newly renovated McGuire Hall stage. It was directed by Bob Sizemore and Mike Morgason with Wayne Fisher directing music.

The second production, a comedy, Rally Round the Flag Boys was directed by Bob Sizemore and Barry Halloran. The cast and crew of this production warmed the hearts of those fighting the January blahs.

The Diary of Anne Frank was the third production presented by the Thespian Troupe 3767. This drama was directed by Becky Miller. The show brought to life the plight of the Jewish people during World War II.

The fourth and final show of the 86-87 season opened the night the Music Man came to McGuire Hall. Once again Bob Sizemore and Mike Morgason directed another musical with the help of student director Chris Desmone. Wayne Fisher and an orchestra of RHS students provided direction and musical accompaniment.

All the productions were brought to us by the Thespian Troupe 3767. This group is one of the busiest and most active organizations at RHS.

Chris Desmone works on one of many sets he created and built during his three years at RHS.

A barber shop quartet consisting of Chris Helms, Kelly Shepard, James Moore, and Kent Shepard harmonize throughout the musical.

Academics

But teacher ..., we had homework last night! Do we actually have to write another paper, read another book, or do another problem? These are typical questions asked often by RHS students. A few popular excuses for not having homework seem to be, "my dog ate it," "it flew out of the car window," or "my mom dropped it down the garbage disposal." Despite all these complaints and excuses, students do want to achieve and learn all they can during their 4 years of high school.

RHS challenges hard working students by offering advanced classes in English, history, math and science. Competition for good grades has become tougher due to all of the honors and awards available. RHS honors all seniors with an accumulated GPA of 3.5 or above with a special recognition banquet and an Academic Excellence ring. Beginning this year, all underclassmen with accumulated GPA's of 3.5 or above, had their pictures featured in the front showcases. Twenty-three students were inducted into the National Honor Society and around 200 seniors competed for scholarships provided by local businesses.

Due to all of the advances and changes in the outside world, academics at RHS has become more important year after year.

Is Renee Backmeyer reading her assignment — or a juicy note????

Making the Grade

Dedicated and hard working students made up the National Honor Society. They constantly strived to maintain excellence in school work and keep grades above average. To be invited to join the National Honor Society, a student must have had an accumulated GPA of 3.6 or above. Twenty-three new students were inducted this year on March 17. They were: John Hogan, Kristin Perks, Michael Bergeron, Craig Lower, Jennifer Reece, Trent Thompson, Amy Brant, Stephanie Brown, Kirsten Busch, Troy Christopher, Joseph Clemente, Nina Combopiano, Emily Cuulbertson, Lisa Dahl, Doris Elizabeth Duning, Shonda Lee, Michael May, Kyle Miller, Matt Moore, Cynthia Paladino, Laurie Shaffer, and Sarah Hunt.

Brains Compete in Games

The spring of 1987 brought the second year of academic competition to RHS. The Richmond Academic teams, sponsored by Mr. Bowers, competed in both duel meet and invitational competition. In addition, the 1987 academics season ended with a first-ever state championship tournament held in late April and early May. Richmond fielded teams in all six areas — English, Fine Arts (an additional from last year), Mathematics, Social Studies, and All-Around, which covered all competition subjects.

Richmond academics were very successful in this year's competition. At the North Central Conference Academics Invitational, RHS won English, Fine Arts, and All-Around and placed second in Math and Social Studies. Richmond then went on to win four subjects — English, Fine Arts, Math and Social Studies — along with All-Around at the Hoosier Academic Super Bowl Area Invitational, where two teams, English and Social Studies, qualified for the state finals tournament. Mr. Bowers contributed this year's success to the great amounts of enthusiasm displayed for academic competition.

Members of the six academic teams were: Social Studies: Randy Christopher, Sarah Deitsch, Janis Pendley, George Sowers, Andy Strain. Mathematics: Julie Buckland, Steve Burkett, Sarah Hunt, Mike Vaughn, Ed Wuerch, Brian Bailey, Beth Duning, Serdar Oguz, John Oester, and Nick Graf. English: Barry Barker, Emily Culbertson, Tina Hoffman, Peter Silver, and Elizabeth Thompson. Science: Rob Bailey, Joe Clemente, Gordon Hunt, Terry Mays, and John Ulmer. Fine Arts: Suzanne Boudreau, Jennifer Converse, Kim Shuerk, and Matt Vaughn.

English A Foreign Language?

The study of English is different to every individual. To many, English is a nightmare, but to some, it is a verbal dream. Therefore, RHS has provided a wide range of English classes so there is something for everyone.

A student can take anything from comic books to literary analysis. No matter what classes he chooses he will practice his speaking, writing, reading and comprehension skills.

The choices we make in English classes in high school effect our lives forever. RHS has given us such a good variety of choices that in the years ahead we will appreciate the English skills the teachers at RHS worked so hard to make us learn.

Mr. Alexander explains the hidden meaning behind the story.

¡Estudian! Estudiez! Studieren! Stúdete!

RHS offered four different foreign languages: Spanish, French, German, and Latin. In the classes, the students learned the cultures of foreign countries and how they differ from the United States. They performed various skits throughout the year and spoke to each other in class daily. One understands the English language better as a result of comparing it to the foreign language. Also, learning the cultures of other people helps one to understand foreigners better. RHS participated in several exchange programs throughout the year including French, British, and Italian. The exchange students were welcomed at RHS as students compared their lives with the foreigners. Foreign Language has become an interesting and fun part of academics at RHS.

What is the density formula? What is DNA? What is the speed of sound in a vacuum? All of these questions were answered in science classes such as biology, chemistry, and physics. Dissecting baby pigs, cow eyeballs, and other creepy things were a major part of biology. Learning the chemical elements and going to labs made up chemistry class. Experimenting with sound, light, and electricity proved challenging in physics class. Other science classes taken were astronomy, geology, and earth space science.

John Hogan and student teacher, Mike Richardson, create a solution in advanced chemistry.

Around the World

As if teaching hundreds of rowdy teenagers daily isn't hard enough, social studies teachers have a major task of keeping students interested. Discussions, debates, and panels in which students can voice their opinions are helpful and effective. Social studies gave the students the knowledge they need to become the leaders of tomorrow. Learning a background in world history and government gives an understanding of current day politics.

"Sure, we know the quadratic formula," says Roxanne Karch, Stacey Frame, Jennifer Ruble and Cindy Paladino.

$$a^2 + b^2 = c^2$$

Postulates, square roots, tangents, theorems — sound exciting? The RHS Math Department thought so. Math classes at RHS included everything from business math to calculus, with each class becoming more complex and causing more headaches. Still, many students do try to major in math during high school. In order to major, credits in all classes through advanced math unified are required. Math can be a tough course, but with the dedication and direction of the math department, students learned to add, subtract, multiply and divide.

Teamwork gets the job done faster for Bill Gibson, Kyle Miller, Matt Burton, Bryan Bailey, Troy Christopher and Chris Moore.

Business Booms

The business world is rapidly changing, and the courses offered in the business education department reflected some of these changes. Students were offered classes ranging from clerical practice assistants to accounting.

Nearly every student took at least one business elective — typing. Typing is one of the many courses in business that was offered to all grades. Other classes such as business law, consumer economics, record keeping and shorthand were also popular among all students.

Whether one decides after high school to go on to college or to enter the job market, business and computer backgrounds are a big help in preparing the students of RHS for their future.

Jason Baird hunts and pecks his way through typing class.

Vicki Sherer struggles to become a computer whiz.

Chip Lehr and Tony Parker concentrate hard while taking their accounting final.

Required Fun

No one likes to "dress out" for gym everyday, but after all, it is better than sitting in a boring classroom. Since one and a half years of gym including 6 weeks of swimming are required to graduate, most students try to make the most of it. Gym class can actually be fun, with students participating in a variety of sports such as raquetball, handball, tennis, basketball, badminton, volleyball, soccer, archery, aerobics, weight lifting and running.

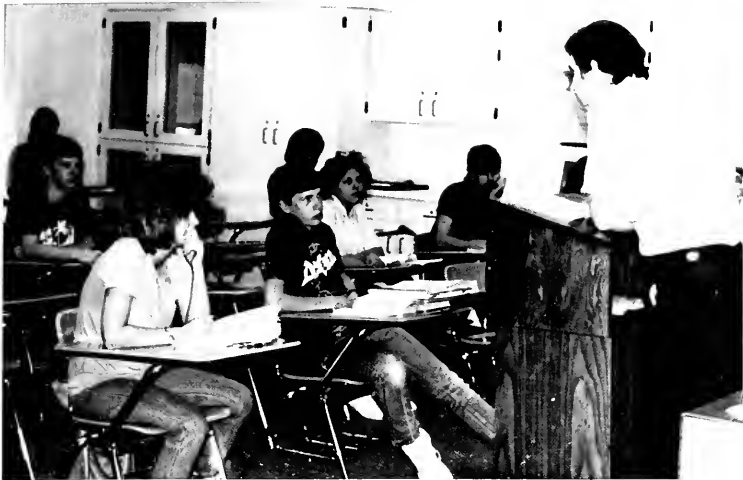

Another required class is health. Students learned about basic life skills such as first aid and life-saving CPR. Students had the opportunity of giving CPR to "Annie" and various other dummies.

Test of knowledge and physical fitness were not always pleasant, but aside from that, health and gym were fun and relaxing classes.

"Go on, make my day!" says Leon Griffin.

Mr. Turner's health class listens diligently to an important lecture.

"I'm ready any time you are!" says Steve Maurer.

Spice of Life

In Home Economic classes, students learned anything from cooking to floral arranging. There were a large variety of home-ec classes offered. Included among them were sewing, interior design, family relations, consumer economics, independent living and quilt-making. All of these classes will be helpful to students in the future, whether they live alone, marry, or have a family.

Cassandra Bennett, Stacey Wright, Linda Carter, and Desi Davis add the finishing touches in sewing class.

Jennie Davis, Lisa Sterling and Angela Bell decide who they should give their cookies to.

"MMMMM," says Tara Robinson as she tastes her freshly baked chocolate-chip cookies.

The Health Care Certified Nursing Assistant Program was designed to provide career exploration in selected health care fields.

This program was offered for the first time this year. In one semester, eleven students put in 105 hours of health care work.

The Vocational Nursing students learned many nursing skills directly related to the needs of a patient. This was done through textbook study, tests, and daily work with patients in local nursing homes.

Crafty Credit

Talent is needed to do all things, but it is especially needed in art. Not everyone can sit down and draw an object with every detail and shadow. The highlight of the year in the RHS art department was the annual student art show. Sculptures, paintings, and drawings were submitted by over 200 Richmond students. Both Mike Rodal, art teacher, and RHS administrators agreed that the 1987 art show was the best ever. Mr. Rodal said, "Art is something that to be able to continue doing, much practice is needed."

"This is only one of my many works of art," says Chris Farlow.

"Where's the head?" asks Suzanne Boudreau and Jennifer Converse.

Metal and Wood

Industrial Arts is becoming one of the most popular kinds of education at RHS. These classes were offered to any male or female interested in furthering their knowledge and ability in metals, woods, electricity, welding, mechanics, building trades, and mechanical drawing. One major project was the three wheel car. The car was not an ordinary one. The engine was a Honda 750 motorcycle engine and the body was made of fiberglass. A boat was also made by Industrial Arts. It did not make it to the water, but the class kept on working to hopefully get it afloat.

Mr. Smith checks the car to make sure it's done right.

Mark Johnson leaves all the work to Tony Tailor as they prepare to start the engine.

Journalists

The presses rolled once again as the Register began publishing after a year that saw the newspaper disappear. An entirely new staff started the year learning all aspects of the newspaper business. 18 issues were published with 3 of these being special sports issues for the basketball season. One of these issues even saw a color picture on the front page, a first for the Register and for high school newspaper.

A special feature in the Register was a humorous column called "Geek of the Week." The final issue of the paper for the year saw the Register poke fun at itself as "Geeks of the Week." The following article written by Jim Kreisia appeared in the May 22, 1987 issue.

Let's talk about geeks. This staff is a bunch of geeks.

Let's look at our editor first, Thalia Bland. With a name like Thalia, she's got to be a geek. The junior assistant editors are a real dynamic duo; Brad Freeman and Jay Judge, the Batman and Robin team of journalism, are definite geeks. Brad Freeman also has two envious clones: Andy Clark and Karl Smiler.

Andy Clark is particularly envious of Brad because Brad took away Andy's job as sports editor.

Angie Nolte, Kelly Skinner, and Sharon Hilton are the Charlie's Angels of the staff. By the way, my name is Charlie, just kidding! They're the ones that make this group not so ugly.

Tami Hampton and Jenni Link give new meaning to "missing in action" when it comes to work.

The photography group was headed by Al Joco. Joco hopes to further his career and open a Joco Moto Photo stand. Brent Wolfe helped Al when he was not trying to figure out how to blow up that school.

Brian Hall was the big computer wiz kid who broke the computer and caused turmoil on the staff.

Chris Reece was the businessman who was caught embezzling five dollars a day to go out to lunch.

Ms. Bowers, mother geek, kept us looking like geeks.

I'm Jimmy the Geek and I'll give you odds that there will never be a staff like this again.

Music

Strike up the band, let the voices ring, tune the strings, and shake the pom poms were all words heard throughout the music department.

RHS offered students a tremendous music program that included 3 orchestras, 5 choirs, 3 bands, and devilettes. In fact one out of every eleven students participate in some kind of musical activity.

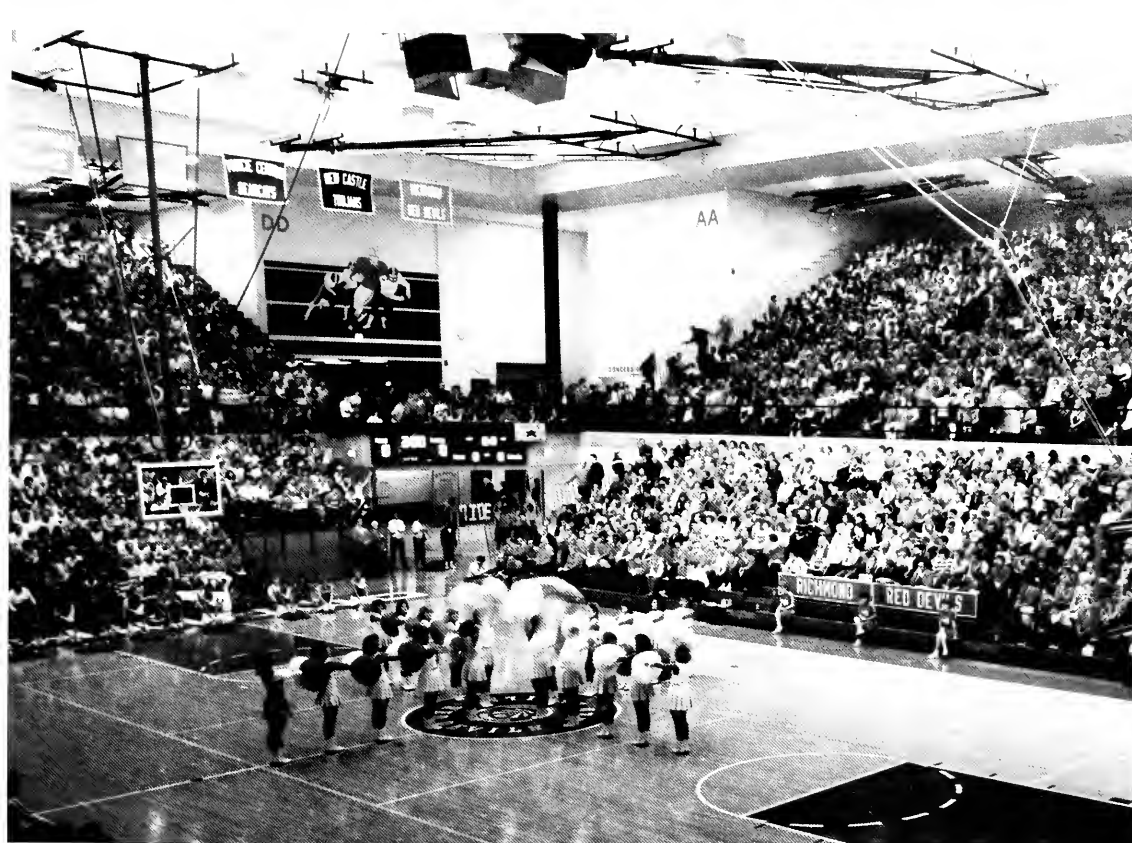

Learning to love music is a part of many student's majors and minors. The knowledge they receive in high school music will lead many outstanding students to a career in the performing arts.

Students through music, developed not only their musical talents but built lasting friendships and memories. Band camp, musical contests, performances, trips, and entertaining although hard work leave student performers with a feeling of accomplishment.

RHS Band Second at State Fair 1986

The Big Red Marching Machine started the year on a high note, by placing 2nd at the State Fair and they ended the year with memories of the past year.

They started the year practicing in the June heat on Test Field for the Rose Festival Parade. In August, band members packed their bags for good 'ol Camp Crosby. At camp they prepared a musical/dance routine for State Fair. Their hard work at camp paid off because they earned a second place rating at State Fair.

When the band returned to school they started putting together routines during 4th hour for the Football Season half time shows. A highlight of their fall entertainment was the night they surprised the crowd by appearing and playing in Halloween costumes.

After Football Season ended, the Big Red Marching Machine split into three bands: The Wind Ensemble, The Symphonic Band, and The Concert Band. All the bands gave several concerts throughout the year.

The Wind Ensemble competed in the State Band Contest where they ranked 11th in the State.

In addition to all these band activities there was also the Brass Choir which performed for various groups in the community. For basketball season the band was divided into 2 separate bands (Red & White) playing at alternate games. There was also a Pep Band which performed at pep rallies.

Now the band can once again look forward to their next trip to good 'ol Camp Crosby and the whole year's routine once again. One special performance anticipated for next year is playing the Wedding March for long time bachelor and band director, Stephen Varnell, when he finally ties the knot.

Cowboy Bob, disguised as a band student, participates in the Halloween half-time show.

Devilettes

The 1986-87 Devilette Corp had 24 members. The officers of the team were: Captain Toni Haller, Lieutenants Lisa Grimme and Kathy Love. Every summer the team travels to Superstar Drill team camp. At this camp awards are offered to outstanding drill team members. If one is to be a "superstar girl" she will have the opportunity to travel all over the world.

The Devilettes for the first time in 5 years went to National Competition. They worked with routines in Jazz, Pop, Pom-pom, Novelty, and Kick. In three of these divisions they placed in the top 3.

Awards earned by the team included Home Routine Trophy, Sweepstakes Trophy, and Spirit Award.

Orchestra

The Richmond High School Orchestra is composed of 110 students who met every morning first or second hour. Classical to contemporary music was an example of the broad spectrum that the students covered throughout the year. The orchestra, directed by Ralph Burkhardt, presented this music to the public through concerts at different times of the year.

The orchestra also worked with the Richmond Symphony Women's Organization to set up a program for all of the fourth grade students in the Wayne County area. There were four concerts on consecutive Wednesdays for the youth. The purpose of these concerts was to teach students about the instruments and the individual tones.

The orchestra worked hard to strengthen their program for the interest of the students, the public, and also to proudly uphold their title of the first high school orchestra in the United States.

Orchestra Tour

The Richmond High School orchestra was the first high school orchestra in the United States. It is now a group made up of 110 students who have a great sense of pride for their organization. With this in mind, the orchestra went on its 12th tour to Washington D.C. in the spring of 1987.

Throughout the year the officers, President Steve Booker, Co-Vice Presidents Amy Spears and Shaunna Meier, Secretary Tricia Hart and Treasurer Chris Desmone, worked hard together to organize fund raiser activities to help sponsor the tour.

The Washington tour was a great experience for all in many different ways. The orchestra performed concerts each day for children so they could learn details about a concert.

Choirs

Show choir, dance routines, contest ranking, and underclassmen are all changes brought about by sole director Wayne Fisher. Fisher took over all choirs this year and he even added a new group, the RHS Show Choir.

Over 240 students joined voices to make up Choralaires, Mixed choir, RHS Singers, and Concert Choir. Concert Choir attended state contest and ranked for the first time in years.

From these groups students auditioned for the honor of being one of the 17 Madrigals. For the first time underclassmen had the opportunity of being in Madrigals. Since December the Madrigals have added a show choir routine. Choreography was included to add to the musical performances of the Show Choir. The Madrigals or Show Choir performed over 70 times throughout RHS and the Richmond area.

Clubs

Prom, Snowball, overnights, plays, and much much more have been brought to you by the clubs of RHS. The clubs contained only a few members but benefited all students at RHS.

Students with problems found a fellow student to talk to at the Peer Helper office run by the YWCA. The Key Club helped future RHS students find their way around the high school. The Science Club represented RHS at the Ball State science fair.

There were some clubs that even benefited the community. For instance HI-Y had the blood drive with the help of the Community Blood Center. Key Club collected food and toys for the needy at Christmas. Civic Hall was brought back to life for the community with the Sock Hop, sponsored by the Student Congress. The Home Ec Club sponsored the Walk-a-Thon for the March of Dimes. Although RHS saw the disappearance of many clubs over the last few years, the remaining clubs showed the benefits of students helping students.

SADD

The RHS SADD chapter is now in their third year of progress. The SADD chapter was started on the basis of making students aware of how dangerous and costly drinking and driving can be.

This year SADD was given an official SADD week thanks to Mayor Walterman. The SADD Week activities consisted of a balloon release in Glen Miller Park, Black Arm Band Day, Button Day, and skits done to inform elementary students about the risks of drinking and driving.

Officers of SADD are: Co-Presidents Beth Darr and Steve Booker, Co-Vice Presidents Willow Bingham and Mike Combopiano, Secretary Joe Clemente, and Treasurer Nina Combopiano.

Joe Cordova gives blood during Hi-Y blood drive.

Hi-Y

This year Hi-Y continued to offer a variety of activities that allowed fun for club members and the entire student body. Hi-Y members and their sponsor, Mrs. Penny Pentecost, backed the annual Christmas tree sales and blood drive.

Members assisted in the organization of Hi-Y basketball, homecoming parade, the homecoming dance, and the snow-ball dance.

Hi-Y Officers: Gary Nunley, Lee Langevin, Kim Brant, Toni Haller.

Student Congress

They planned, they organized, and they did it!!! This year Student Congress sold Max Headroom t-shirts, homecoming sweatshirts, sponsored the Pajama Party Lock-in, co-sponsored the community sock hop in Civic Hall and also sponsored the fun filled Friday nights at the Richmond Y-East. Student Congress also provided the faculty a breakfast during American Education Week.

Student Congress, the governing body of RHS, was established in 1977. Stu Cong is made up of two bodies. The first being the congress made up of representatives from each class. Stu Cong officers make up the second body, the senate.

This 81 member club is sponsored by Mrs. Sue Musial. The purpose of Student Congress is to represent the school as a whole and to represent and support the ideas of the students.

Row 4 — Lori Jefferson, Elaine Blakley.

Home Ec. Club

This year Home Economics Club, also known as FHA (Future Homemakers of America), went to the state convention in April, conducted Consumer Education field trips and were responsible for several community projects. The Home Ec. Club worked with the March of Dimes to sponsor the Walk America in the Richmond area.

FHA officers are President Kim Pennington, Vice-President Amie Nolte, and Secretary Lori Jefferson. Public Relations were handled by Mary Robbins, Tracy Carter, and Bonnie Waltz.

All members of this year's Home Ec. Club wish to give a special thanks to Mrs. Lindley, their sponsor, for all her help and support.

Science Club

Mrs. Price and the science club conducted many experiments and observations this year.

They participated in essay contests concerning clean air and soil conservation. Amy Simpson and Dedrie Johnson advanced past the local levels in these contests.

The Science Club also sent three people to the Ball State University science fair. The participants were Steve Bahnweg, Jeff Bright, and Steve Burkett.

FCA

This year the Fellowship of Christian Athletes saw an increased amount of students and adults who came out to support the group. Their activities included a pitch-in banquet and a car wash. The officers were Co-Presidents Shaunna Meier and Terrence Donahoe, Treasurer Rob Bailey, and Secretary Tally Bland. Also assisting the officers in leadership were the huddle leaders. They were Fiona Ferguson, Craig Lower, Randy Gianfagna, and Mark Nigh.

Oh by the way, that Coke you bought at any sporting event except football or basketball was sold by FCA.

Peer Helper

Got a problem? Want someone to talk to? Need some information? If so, ask the Peer Helpers!

Who are the Peer Helpers? They are a group of 47 RHS sophomores, juniors, and seniors who have been trained to offer their fellow students support, encouragement, and information. The Peer Helpers deal with the problems that face teenagers today, such as, drug and alcohol abuse, teen pregnancy, and depression. Under the direction of Sue Routson the P.I.C.T. (Peer Information Center for Teens) program also traveled to the Middle Schools had a "new student orientation" program, provided a "jobs board," and operates the "YWCA Teen Line." Peer Helpers is in its second year at RHS.

Key Club

Remember who missed seeing the basketball games to put your coat in safe keeping? It was the annual project of the Key Club. Every home game members checked coats in and out for all who attended.

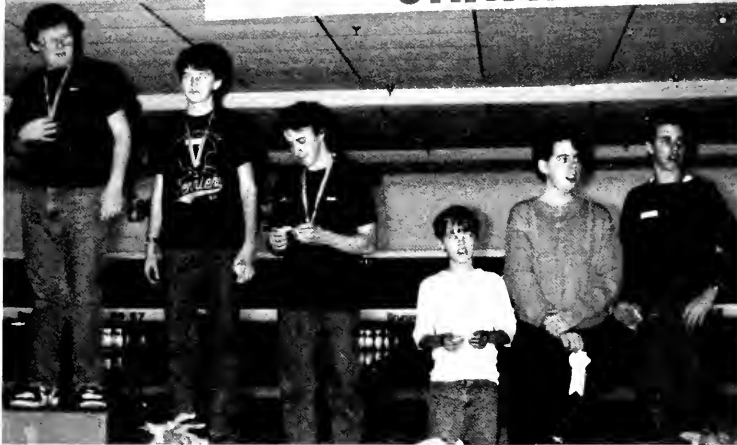

Key Club was also responsible for helping the less fortunate by collecting food and toys during the Christmas season. The club encouraged the whole school to participate by offering prizes that were awarded through daily drawings. This food drive has become an annual event for Key Club and RHS.

Key Club, a national organization, was presided over this year by Karen Sharp. She was also Lt. Governor for division 7 and coordinated information for Key Clubs in 5 other high schools. Other Key Club Officers were Vice-President Cindy Dickman, Secretary Susan McDaniel, and Treasurer Michelle Clemente.

STATE BOWLING CHAMPIONS

Special Olympics

Special Olympics offers many young people that are either mentally or physically handicapped the chance to excel in athletics. Special Olympians participate in skiing, swimming, basketball, and track. They also participate in local and regional bowling tournaments. The RHS chapter had two students who achieved high honors at the State Bowling Championships in Indianapolis. President Steve Potts, Vice-President Scott Jinks, and Secretary John Kinsey would like to thank the coaches and sponsors for their help and support throughout the 86-87 year.

Steve Potts placed 1st and Scott Jinks placed 3rd in the State Bowling Championship.

Sports

High achievements were attained in 1986-87 through athletics at RHS. Overall, it was one of the most successful years from tennis to basketball. It marked a year for strong team unity and for special individual performances. Girls swimming, boys tennis, wrestling, gymnastics and the boys swimming sent one or more participants to state competition and the boys basketball team made it to the final state championship game.

Another award given in 1986-87 was to scholar athletes, which marked a higher level of excellence. Patches were presented to athletes who attained a 3.0 GPA or better. Red Devil Pride sponsored the award and found many athletes achieved this honor. Also, the acaademic teams lettered just as athletes and could even receive a jacket.

Through athletics and academics students of RHS have proven to themselves and the competition that Richmond can be a serious threat. It also sets a new goal for 1987-88. RHS needs to keep succeeding, to keep excelling, to have football players named to the all-state, to have a swimmer place in state finals again, or to have another basketball player named to the All-Star team as this year. Next year also sees the 3-point shot added to prep basketball, which will challenge and benefit Richmond's excellent outside shooting. Most of all, this year students saw dreams of success become reality and could only hope for more next year, especially that victory over Marion.

Swimming

The girls swim team compiled a 7-3 record for the fall 1986 season. The girls placed 2nd in the Richmond Invitational, 5th in the North Central Conference, and 2nd in the Connersville Sectional.

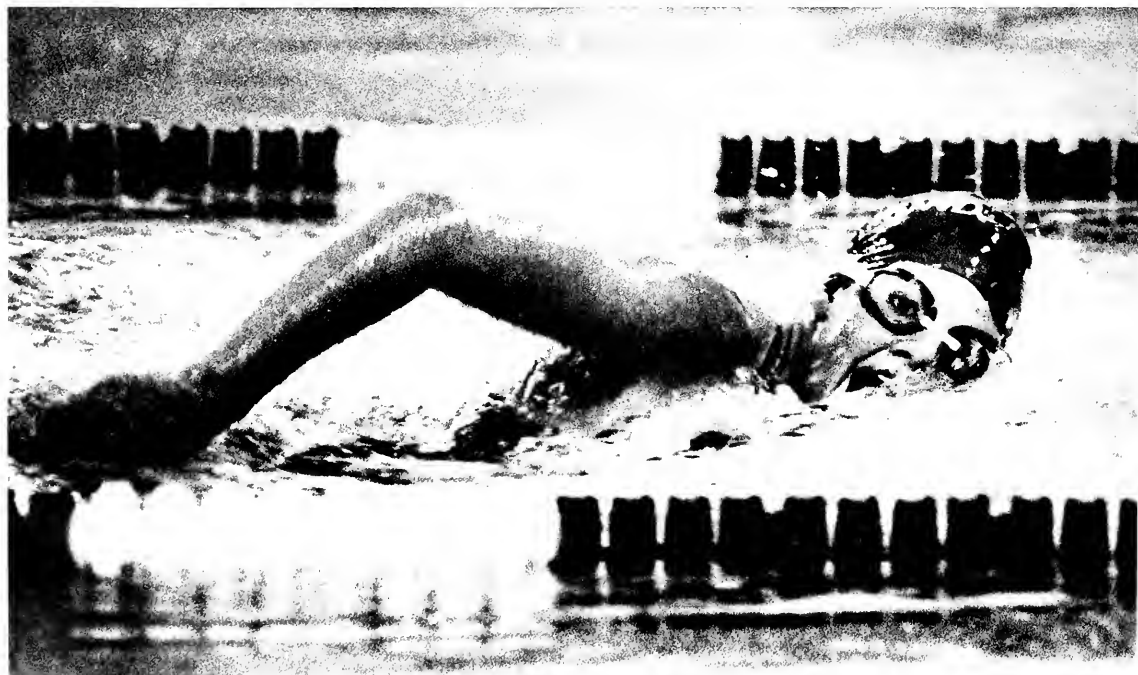

All together there were 8 breakings of school records. Tally Bland broke the 200 yd. individual medley 3 times and the 500 yd. free twice. Emily Culbertson broke the 200 yd. free-style and sliced her own butterfly school record. Senior diver, Amy Oler, broke the record for 11 dives.

Culbertson and Oler went on to the State meet. Culbertson scored for Richmond, placing 11th in the 100 yd. butterfly. Oler finished in 20th place.

Coach Ferriell-Woolpy, along with diving coach David Woolpy, felt this year's team, "Believed in themselves and the team had a very successful season."

Cross Country

New faces were seen from this year's girls' cross country team. Practically having a brand new squad, the team only had one senior, Emily Masson-Guipe, to lead the girls through the season. Sophomore Dana Spitz definitely saw her potential this year. She finished 5th in the Bloomington Invitational and 2nd in the sectional which was the highest placing for any girl in RHS history. She went to finish 13th in the regionals.

Their duel meet record was 3-2 while winning the Wayne County Invitational, placing second in the Richmond NCC Invitational and also in the sectionals.

Cross Country Team shows spirit in the Homecoming Parade.

The boys cross country team saw great talent from such a young team. Terry Craig and Mike Miller, co-captains, led an "outstanding freshman and sophomore team," says Coach Roger Smith. The team will be returning nine letter winners next fall. Their record this year was 5-3. They placed 6th in the NCC and 5th in sectionals. "The team was young but they grew both in strength and spiritual unity," said Coach Smith.

Coach Smith looks for win.

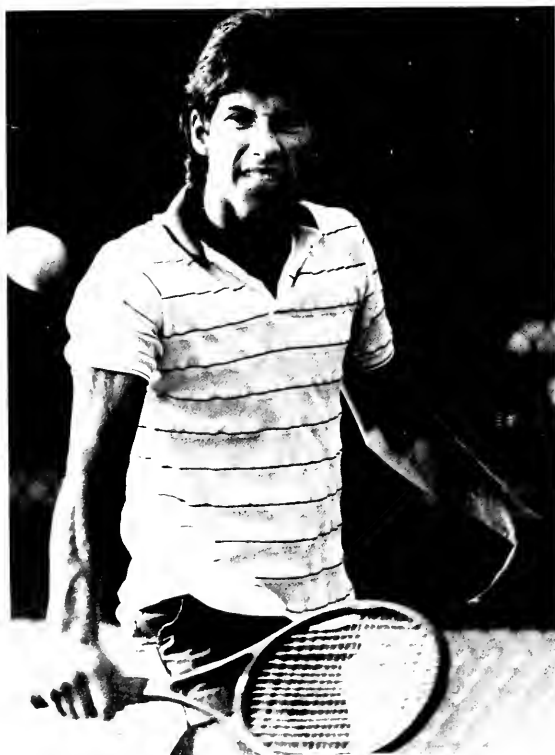

New recruit? No, Just Doug Ratcliff.

Tennis

The 1986 RHS tennis team was made up of outstanding students, sportwise and academically. The varsity team was represented by John Hogan and Marc Flood who were the powerful number one doubles team. Rob Bailey and Kevin MacDowell were a remarkable duo, who were all conference champs. The fourth straight number one singles player to make all state was Randy Hollingsworth. Shawn Hollingsworth, Brad Manthey, Jeff Moore, and Jeff Chang were the other strong contenders of the varsity team.

This team shared many great statistics, a 15-2 record, lettering nine players and a combined grade point average of 3.3. All of the athletes were strong, solid leaders who dominated the state in tennis.

Randy Hollingsworth serves another ace in number one singles. Marc Flood, in deep concentration, returns his opponent's shot.

Volleyball

The volleyball team started off slowly this year but came on at the end of the year to finish at 19-12. Having a tough schedule all season the Lady Devils came closer to beating Muncie Burris, the no. 1 team in the nation, than any other team. Captains were senior Angie Dunn and junior Lisa Pierson. Other seniors were Angie Nolte, Kelly Skinner, Paula Show and Jodi Halberstadt.

Soccer

The Richmond Soccer Team had an outstanding season in 86-87. They ended the year with a 21-3 record and were ranked 9th in the state. Richmond also advanced to the semi-final round of the state tournament.

The Devils were coached by first year Coach Dave Brown. Brown was best known for his suspensions and strict disciplinary actions. He was assisted by former Indiana soccer player Dick Bonan and former head of Richmond Soccer Pat Carney.

Football

This year's football season ended with a 21-7 loss to defending state champions Warren Central. Losing 19 starting players from last year's team, the '87 Devils pulled together to form another fine ball club. One of the more exciting games ended with 4 point after touchdown attempts before Richmond won 21-20 in overtime. Finishing at 6-8, the team was led by co-captains, Tim Davis and Rocky Vecera. Players who achieved extra honors were: Tim Davis — all state guard, and Jeff Lech and Rick Brouse — both received academic all state. Ron Sabados, Rocky Vesera, Ron Barber and Greg Lyons were all named NCC.

Wrestling

The Richmond Grapplers posted a final record of 6-4 this year. The team was led by Chris Lyons who was a state qualifier with a 27-5 record. Richmond was second in the regional. A fine freshmen team with a 9-3 record will help improve next year's team. Coaches were Bob Stoner, Doug Kaler, and freshman coach was John Kalugyer.

Varsity Wrestlers: Row 1 — Manager Jennifer Ruble, Jim Senter, Sean Kelly, Jim Basler, Jon Winchester, Larry Twine, Chris Williams, Manager Kelly Rone. # Swimming

"The 86-87 boys swim team came to an outstanding conclusion with performances in the conference, sectional and state meets," said Coach Harp in his 13th year at RHS. The tankers finished third in the NCC, second in the sectionals and sophomore John Klinge placed seventh in the state meet in the 100 yard backstroke. Their record was 6-3 and they ended the season ranked in the top ten in the state. Harp felt, "The team's success was accomplished largely by the team motto, G.R.I.T." He also added, "Their winning attitude was best exemplified by their commitment and dedication."

Basketball Team State Runners Up

Richmond opened the 86-87 boy's basketball season with an 85-87 victory over Lincoln. Then disaster struck. Richmond lost to Fort Wayne Northrop 76-61 and New Castle 62-60.

Things were looking down for the Devils but they regrouped and went on to win five straight games.

With wins over Muncie Central, Broad Ripple, Muncie South, Shenandoah and Centerville, Richmond improved their record to 6-2.

Richmond then traveled to Marion to face the no. 1 ranked Giants. The game came down to a questionable call with seconds to play and Marion won 51-49. This was the closest game anyone has had against Marion all year.

Richmond finished the season with a record of 16-4, and pushed their way to the state championship. The season was finished with the Devils ranked no. 6 by the AP poll.

The keys to the success of the team were the excellent guard play by Woody Austin and Jerry Coleman.

Basketball

For the second time in three years, the Richmond Red Devil basketball team finished the season as state runners up.

Led by seniors, Jerry Coleman, John Claiborne, Andrew Steele and juniors Woody Austin and David Cruise, the number 6 ranked Red Devils advanced to the state finals for only the second time in RHS history.

Richmond defeated Winchester, 78-52 for the sectional championship. Then Richmond defeated the arch rival Connersville, 77-63 to advance to the semi-state.

Richmond came from behind against number 13 Bloomington South in the morning game, eventually winning, 60-59. In the championship game, Jerry Coleman led the Devils to a 77-67 victory over Mount Vernon.

Richmond defeated number 5 Gary Roosevelt 66-60 in the afternoon game of the state finals. For the second time in three years, the Devils faced the Giants in the final game.

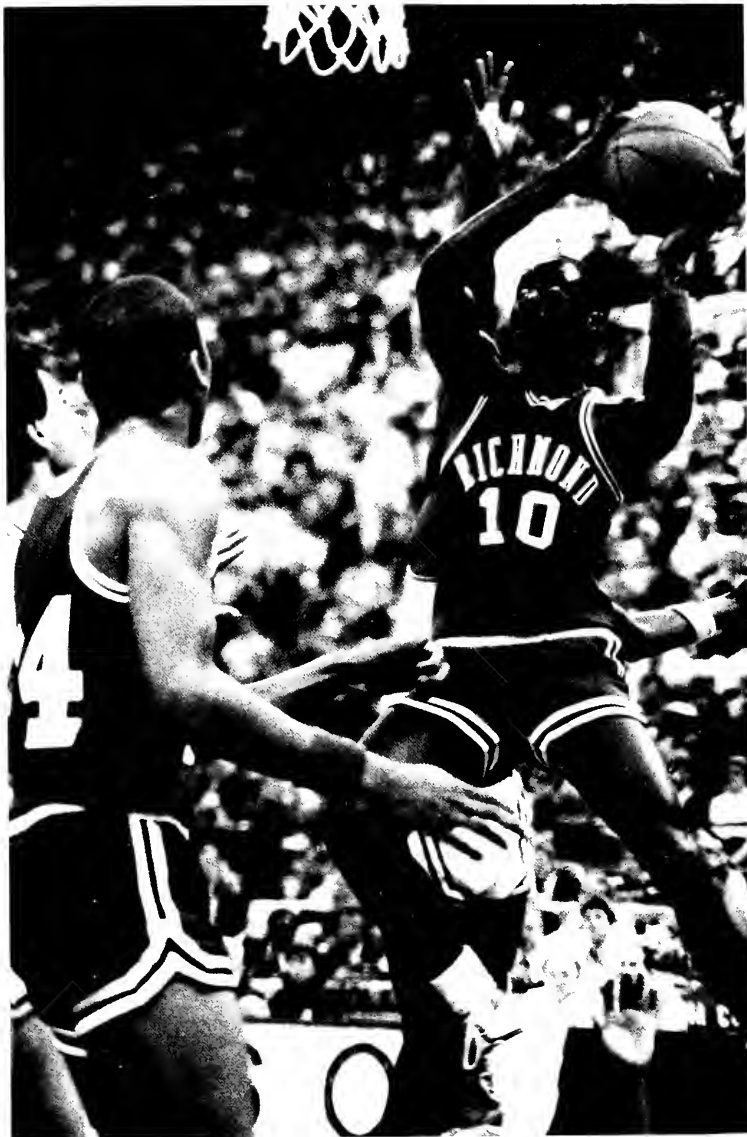

Richmond stayed close to Marion for most of the first half, but they could not overcome the undefeated Giants.

Richmond Coach, George Griffith, was selected to coach the Indiana All-Star team and RHS guard, Jerry Coleman, was also selected for that team.

JV Basketball ended the season on an even note with a 10-10 record. Jim Hardman was coach for the team. Troy Christopher led the team in scoring while Sean Bledsoe controlled the ball handling. The season was spotlighted by close winning games over Middletown and Connersville.

Freshmen Basketball was coached by Sherwood Haydock and Carl Harris and finished the season with 12 wins and only 2 losses. The two losses came to Anderson Madison Heights and Muncie South. The little devils looked promising as Doug Holok averaged 9.8 points per game to lead the team.

Basketball

Angie Dunn and Jodi Halberstadt led this years basketball team to a 16-6 season. Leading scorer was Stacie Shepperd with a 21.7 scoring average. Next in line was Halberstadt with over 9 points per game. Voted as team MVP was Angie Dunn who was the best all around player. The Lady Devils made it to the regional finals before being ousted by Greenfield Central. Next year should be an interesting one since the team loses Danica Ship, Angie Dunn, Anne Wettig, and Jodi Halberstadt — all starters.

Jodi Halberstadt prepares for a lay-up.

Lady Devils led by Stacie Shepherd show that RHS has another excellent basketball team.

Gymnastics

Injuries plagued the 1986-87 girls gymnastics team, but that didn't injure their success. Senior Amy Oler was prevented from competing due to an orthopedic knee operation at the beginning of the season. Then midway through the season, Paula Snow fractured her elbow at the NCC meet. However, Michelle Paraiso and Gina North were very successful at post season competitions. Gina represented RHS at the State Finals meet.

Tennis

The Richmond girls tennis team had a strong finish to their season with a trip to semi-state. With victories of 3-2 over Centerville in the sectional and 3-2 over Greensburg in the regional, the Lady Netters earned themselves a spot in the Indianapolis semi-state. Unfortunately, they were defeated by North Central 5-0 in the first round.

Coach Eagles was pleased that the girls accomplished both of their goals set at the beginning of the year: winning twice as many matches as they lost, and winning the sectional and regional. With only two seniors graduating, the future looks bright for the Lady Netters.

No. 3 player Heather Burkhart serves another ace.

Track

"We improved throughout the season," said first year coach Richard Bryant. "Our kids worked hard. We had good senior leadership from Tim Davis, Ron Barber, and Eddie Freeman."

Davis and Barber both won NCC titles; Davis in the discus and shot put and Barber in the long jump.

The RHS track team put forth their best performance of the year when they won the Columbus Relays Title by outscoring No. 2 Columbus North. Other highlights included sending 17 RHS members to the sectional and winning 14 out of 15 events versus Rushville.

The Junior Varsity Track Team finished a successful campaign with a record of 5-3.

Doug Mauer and Tony Rodriguez try to keep up with the feverish pace.

Track

With two new school records, the 1986-87 girls track team accomplished all they set out to achieve. Melissa Haisley set a new 3200m run record with a time of 13:41.3, while the 1600m relay team ran a time of 4:17.6. The team consisted of Dimples Wright, Dana Spitz, De De Wright, and Anita Jackson.

The track team was known for setting goals and reaching them. They again accomplished them this year because of their commitment established at the beginning of the season.

Melissa Haisley proves that men are not always faster as she pushes past Brent Sowers.

On your mark, get set, go! And Julie Link is off!

Baseball

Although the RHS Boys' Baseball Team got off to a good start, they struggled through the second half of the season and compiled a 17-11 regular season record.

Seniors Andrew Stelle, John Senese, Chuck Hollingsworth, and Trey Powers led a young and inexperienced team coached by John Cate. The team has a lot of young talent and next year promises to be a good one.

Perfect practice makes a perfect pitch. Chris Bailey works on that curve ball.

Softball

The girls' softball team had a successful season even though it ended in a losing record (6-11). The Lady Devils were led in hitting by Faith Pennington at .433 and Angi Helmsing at .424. Faith Pennington was voted "Most Valuable Player" and Missy Bender and Julie Buckland received "Red Devil Scholar Athlete Awards".

The team will have all players returning to the lineup next year. Next year, Richmond will enter conference play with other NCC schools.

Golf

— BOYS' GOLF —

The Richmond Boys' Golf Team finished the season with an 8-4 record and at one point was ranked No. 17 in the state.

Richmond finished seventh in the NCC meet but bounced back a week later to win the sectional. Adam Carney, voted "Most Valuable Player," shot an unbelievable 69 at the sectional meet to win medalist honors.

The turning point for the team was the New Castle Invitational in which Richmond finished third behind No. 12 Noblesville and No. 7 Yorktown.

— GIRLS' GOLF —

Tessa Cole received the M.V.P. award for the Girls' Golf Team and she also finished with the lowest final average for the season. Other members of the team included Erren Kovalski, Jenny Rice, Sherri Hardwick, Stacie Robinson, Erin Tudor and Nancy Graf.

The team placed sixth in sectionals and seventh in the NCC tournament. Coach Harris was pleased with the performance of the team, even though some of them had never played golf until this season.

We Be Jammin'

With dedication and enthusiasm, the 1986-87 cheerleaders supported Red Devil athletes throughout the year, including special support for the basketball team that went all the way to the state finals.

Their spirit and leadership was shown through the years' activities, which consisted of pep rallies, hall decorating, and leading cheers. All of the RHS Cheerleaders working together as a team, helped make the year in sports a victorious one.

A Night to Remember

At precisely 9:14 p.m. May 29, 1987 senior class, led by president Laurie Lingle and valedictorian Sara Deitsch, were asked to stand for the traditional tassel change. In just a few seconds the seniors were no longer seniors, they were graduates.

Leading up to the tassel change, the three class speakers, Michelle Paraiso, Kristin Perks and Tally Bland, looked back on the year and into the future. "Motivation" seemed to be the key word to describe the mood set by their speeches.

Before the presentation of the diplomas, the Wind Ensemble played a special piece, "The March and Procession of Bacchus."

When the senior musicians returned to their seats, the presentation of 428 diplomas began. Charles Rosenbaum, Michael Walton, Robert Zinkan, and Gerald Moore announced the names of the graduates. Mr. Jack T. Miller, president of the School Board, Dr. Richard Morrison, Superintendent, and Mr. Dennis Renshaw presented the seniors with their diplomas as they crossed the stage.

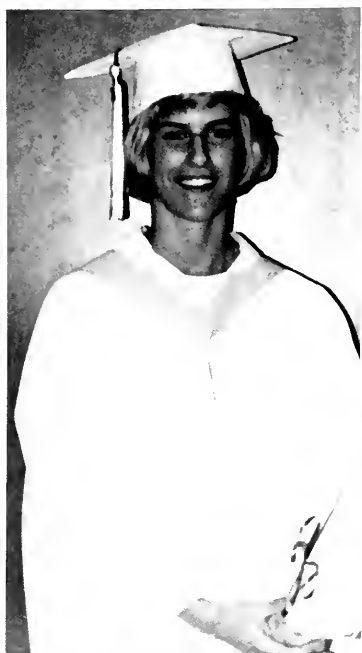

Reverend Earl J. Kreisa closed the event with a prayer before the seniors of 1987 marched out of the Tiernan Center. The new graduates left ready to take on the world.

Class Secretary, Toni Haler receives a bank scholarship in Honors and Awards.

One, two, three, and you're out

By Michelle Parasio

Aug. 25, 1986, 8 a.m. we all remember it well. The first day of school — but not just any ordinary first day of school — but our first day — as a senior. When you realize that you are a senior a whole new light shines as you walk into school, an extremely bright light, anticipating the great things to come.

There's something about being a senior that makes you hold your head high. Your folders and books — if you manage to carry any at all — are covered with your personal countdown awaiting graduation. You start to laugh because the first person you see happens to be an underclassman and you make it your personal duty — to make sure they know that you are no longer one of them.

Now — a senior's life is definitely not exempt from worries. For the first time you're faced with the question, "What are you going to do with your life?" And unless you're extremely fortunate — you start to cringe because you think to yourself, "I honestly don't know." But then you decide that you aren't going to worry about it because you've got "lots of time."

The first bell rings and you have no qualms because you're not a rookie — you've been wandering these halls for two years and you know exactly where everything is — the only problem — you can't seem to locate your schedule. So you decide, at least for today your first hour is Commons IAX.

Lunch! A, B, or C. Your main concern is not what you eat but — with whom you eat. What's the use of cutting in line and facing the consequences if you don't have some good conversation to look forward to?

Finally — 3:11, the bell rings — it's music to your ears. You survive and make it out the door with only a short paper, a test, two quizzes and 30 pages of reading standing between you and a pleasant afternoon of MTV.

It's typical days like this — ones you would like to forget and at the same time treasure because they've made up your entire senior year.

That's the thing about being a senior — things start to come together — your friendships strengthen, your grades pick up — at least until you get into the college of your choice; and your parents become even more understanding because they realize that you aren't going to be around next year.

Well, here it is, May 29, the day marked on your folder the first day of school. How could you forget? You saw it on each announcement, "Commencement for the Class of '87, 8 p.m. Tiernan Center."

The first day of school seems like yesterday. Every dance, game and weekend is vivid in your mind. You shed a tear or two then wipe it away because — the celebration — has only begun!

We've Made It To The Top!

"We beg to differ." The class of 1987 created, chanted and lived by those four words. It was our time, our senior year. We seemed bigger than life in our not so big minds and were convinced to conquer the world, or at least underclassmen. It was finally our turn to lead cheers at games, to own the dance floor, to reign the halls and to 'inhabit' lockers senior row. It was the last time to achieve secondary goals in the finale of our high school career.

Approximately 500 people sighed of relief August 25, 1986, as we walked through the school doors, knowing it was the last year to walk under an RHS doorway. Each new year we had walked under that doorway, so had a new Principal. We had also been subjected to a new Athletic Director and Superintendent during that time. We were the first senior class to take Calculus in high school. We were the last of the three-year RHS students. We adjusted to a new, awkward advisement program and witnessed its success. We treasured our 1987 basketball team who made it to the Final Four. We loved our fellas who cut their hair for the team. We laughed when our chips were up and cried when we were down and out. Most importantly, we endured. And the class of 1987 shall endure throughout life, whether it be in college, a technical institute, the armed services or the work force, because "We beg to differ!"

Julie Link, Aimee Carter, and Tally Bland are excited because they "Made It To The Top!"

Excerpts from a Sophomore's Journal

Learning the facts of life is what being a teenager is all about. And my sophomore year marked the beginning of many new and exciting changes in my life. When I became a sophomore, I became a legalized driver and some say, a threat to the experienced drivers. I also became familiar with new interests in dating. The memories of my sophomore year will always be kept clear in my heart and mind ...

"Okay Dad, so I hit a tree. It's only a tree, and besides, the car was hardly scratched. There was just a small dent in the right front quarterpanel and the windshield was cracked a little. "What about the tree, you ask? Well, let's just say ... it looks worse than the car."

It was late. I was coming home from a game. I looked right ... no cars in sight!!! I zipped through a stop sign, my speedometer was a steady 85 mph. The wind in my hair, Bon Jovi rockin' from the radio and — what's that sound? Sounds like a-a-a SIREN! Oh no! Gumballs everywhere ..."

She was smart, but she had more than brains ... big blue eyes, and long blonde hair. Everytime I saw her, the butterflies in my stomach began to twitter and the sweat glands began to work overtime. I forgot how to say even the simplest of words; all I could do was stare and stutter. I remember the first time I called her. She was surprised and we talked for almost an hour before she had to go. All night long I tossed and turned thinking that I should've just asked. The next day at school, I worked up my courage and popped the question, "Would you like to ...?" And guess what she said ...

ANGELA BRUMBAUGH

In Memoriam. It's hard for a community such as Richmond to face the loss of a life. And it's even harder to handle the loss of a life that had just begun. Angela Brumbaugh will be fondly remembered by those who were fortunate enough to know her during her lifetime.

Roxanne Karch holds her chin high during a pep rally performance.

Kelly Van Pelt shows her school spirit by dressing up for Concert T-shirt day and Shades Day.

Freshmen

All Students have their own idea of what high school is going to be like for them. Freshmen usually have the most optimistic outlook on their four years. Listen to what they say:

"I knew there wasn't a better high school in the state of Indiana." ... Mark Klein.

"The lunches were a big improvement — even though I don't think so anymore!" ... Jason Castle.

"It's great to be here with all of the older people." ... Laura Raby.

"It is GREAT" ... Randy Hecklinski.

"It was scary at first, but I got used to it." ... Doug Holok.

"The only things I like about the school are the women and the sports." ... John Christian.

"I thought I'd get lost, but surprisingly, I didn't." ... Natalie Goeke.

"Even though we're only little underclassmen, do we still look sexy?" said Freshman Rosar, Jennifer Bright, Melinda Glen and Sophomore Amy Renshaw.

The Freshmen had a successful year. They had a 5-1 football record. They excelled in academics, participated in plays, and were a part of various clubs. They are looking forward to not being "frosh" anymore.

Administration

The many faces of our leader. Mr. Renshaw seems cool shown behind his desk, but at times he fights for his right to be a nerd.

Mr. Lebo waits patiently for the next student.

Bowers, David — Executive Vice Principal, 20 years.

Coulter, Russel — Director of Vocational and Adult Education, 3 years.

Hillman, Sandra — Assistant Principal, 10 years.

Holok, Al — Assistant Principal and Assistant Athletic Director, 2 years.

Koveleski, Frank — Director of Athletics, 2 years.

The Force Behind the Students

School Board: sitting — Dr. Richard Morris, Dr. Cheryl Stolle, Kathleen Burton, Dr. Thomas Glynn Jr., MD, Philip Marino, Eugene Spicer, Jack Miller, Robert Green.

Roll the drums, this is the page everyone has been waiting for ... The administration and faculty page. Seriously, these people through extraordinary efforts made 1986-87 another successful school year. And with the passing of the referendum, funds will be more available next year for needed improvements.

Presenting the 1986-87 faculty and what they accomplished in teaching is difficult in black and white. But here are just a few of their achievements. The history teachers showed students the world, past and present; while the English staff taught students how to express themselves better. Foreign language teachers unveiled new and different cultures. Math and Science instructors found new ways to boggle already confused minds with calculations and equations.

On the lighter side of education, the health and physical education teachers proved to kids how important exercise and knowledge of their body is to their well being. Fine and practical art teachers and directors helped develop skills different from the norm.

Pleasant adjectives to describe the staff could be patient, hardworking, and cheerful. But adjectives are not enough. These are the people who put up with sleeping students, flying spit wads, and the biggest incurable thing of all "SENIORITIS." The faculty had a big load to carry and even though it seemed they over-enjoyed assigning homework, these same teachers many times stayed after school to offer help to students.

They coached teams, directed plays, sponsored clubs, and created yearbooks all in their free time. So the moral to this story, as far as morals go, is "Don't spit in the eye of a camel before it leads you to water."

Faculty

Mrs. Wellings is prepared to cut her first album singing for the Devils to go all the way to State.

The wild and Rowdy teachers show students their spirit. Thanks to Mrs. Koger, Mr. M. Rodel, Mrs. Ferriell, Mrs. Graf, Mr. Schroeder, and Mrs. Hillman.

Staff

Tell me, who is responsible? Who is it that does such a good job of keeping 2,600 students untied into a school? Who feeds 1,000's of hungry faces daily? Who keeps track of our illnesses and absences? Who keeps our floors clean? Tell me now, who is the backbone of Richmond High School?

The lunch staff, the janitorial staff and the secretaries and aids get abused daily by students. They put up with more than parents do. So next time the lady in the lunchroom hands you a meal, or the lady in the office hands you a pass to class, give her a smile or say thank you. Heck, hug a staff member. They deserve it!

Nurse Catey presents that familiar smile that every student has seen at least once before.

Students create Best Seller

The making of a yearbook took a lot of time and hard work, but it was also a lot of fun. Many hours were spent during school and at times, late into the evenings, working diligently to meet the deadlines for the 1986-87 Pierian. This book has made RHS History by being the largest Pierian ever.

In September the staff was very inexperienced and questioned the publication of such a large yearbook. This being everyone's first year, including Mrs. Bowers the advisor, made things very difficult and at times hectic. But Mrs. Bowers managed to pull together an unorganized and sometimes unproductive staff to create the 86-87 Pierian.

There were many new sections added to this publication of the Pierian, such as the Mini-Mag entitled "Up Close And Personal" was created to give a closer look at the past school year. From current entertainment to current events, "Up Close And Personal" covered all areas of life in and out of school.

Suzi Baumer and Chief Photographer David Wingate, choose the best negative.

"I thought I was done writing captions," says Laura Powell

Tammy Hampton and Todd Jarvis work diligently to make the deadline.

"Do we really look like we're working?", says Jim Kreisa and Terrence Donahoe.

Suzi Baumer and Mrs. Bowers discuss production schedules

CONGRATULATIONS GRADS!

Now you can gain experience, use your skills and earn money, too!

We understand your problem. You can't get a job without experience and you can't get experience without a job.

Manpower of Richmond offers an exciting solution . . . jobs, jobs, jobs! You can showcase your hidden talents or skills in a new job. We provide people who are 18 years or older opportunities for entry-level positions requiring no or limited experience. All represent a challenging opportunity to meet people, gain experience, learn new skills and earn money.

Free Training is Available

Manpower is not an employment agency. We do not charge fees or require contracts. When you work for Manpower, you are given assignments in businesses which temporarily have more work than workers. They must rely on productive people who are motivated, have good work attitudes and are dependable. People like you.

At Manpower, we even offer free training. In our Richmond, Indiana office we offer instruction on the IBM System 36 Computer.

Assignments are Increasingly Challenging

With Manpower, as your work history and skills advance, you can get longer-term, more challenging and higher-paying assignments. Manpower is an excellent way to gain work experience and learn new skills.

Manpower is one of the world's largest employers, with over 700,000 employees in 35 countries. Your satisfactory work record is transferable to any of our 600 offices in the United States should you decide to relocate.

A Wide Diversity of Jobs

What kinds of job assignments do we offer? A wide range! We match job requirements with job skills. We need business grads with excellent typing and word processing skills. We also need workers for automated workstations, industrial or technical areas. Whatever your experience, we work hard to give you assignments which match your skills.

If you are looking for an exciting way to increase your skills, gain experience and earn money, call us for more information. Manpower may be your answer.

It's Finally Finished!

Trying to rebuild a staff was very difficult but advisor Ann Bowers did an amazing job with the 1986-87 yearbook staff. The very first day the class met, nobody knew what to expect or how much work was involved in publishing a book. From the first day students had to learn how to layout a yearbook, write copy and captions, sell ads, and take and develop pictures.

Our staff was rather inexperienced but the extra hours of learning, working, typing and developing paid off. The 1986-87 staff created the largest RHS yearbook ever!

Thanks to Larry Glaze, the Herff Jones representative, who was very patient and a great teacher.

I would also like to thank David Geier,

Greg Pyle, Bill Wallace, and Pal-Item Photographers, for all of the picture contributions they made.

Finally thanks goes to Tally Bland, Al Joco, Tina Hoffman, Kim Williams, and Sarah Wilson who were not on the staff but really helped by writing copy and taking pictures.

In the final week of creating pages future staff members Jenni Long and Craig Hillman came in and spent their own time typing and writing to help get the book off to press. Good Luck in years to come!

Thanks to Everyone
